Enterprise Infrastructure/Network Solutions: CACI's solutions allow our customers to efficiently achieve their missions with seamless, well-managed enterprise infrastructures. These solutions include infrastructure transformation, infrastructure architecture planning and design, enterprise IT systems engineering and integration, network security operations, and wireless mobility support.

Enterprise Data Center (EDC) Solutions: Our capabilities apply to the entire range of existing and emerging government agency data center requirements – including size, cost, location, privacy, and security. Our EDC solutions include cloud computing services, virtualization services, and data center design, management, and modernization.

Enterprise Application Solutions: CACI's application-related offerings ensure that clients have the network and storage capacities to achieve the highest operational efficiency and effectiveness for legacy, developing, and next-generation applications and architectures. These solutions span application integration, migration, and modernization.

Enterprise IT Support Services: CACI was the first company in the nation to achieve ISO 20000 certification – the world's foremost independent standard in IT service delivery – in support of a federal agency. Today, we continue to refine our modular yet integrated methodology by incorporating proven industry best practices and tailored approaches.

Enterprise IT Professional and Technical Services: With our powerful modeling and simulation services, we calculate the exact staffing requirements our customers need to support their IT infrastructures. Our services include enterprise operations process transformation and certification; modeling, simulation, and analyses; independent validation and verification; subject matter expert engineering specialty support; test and evaluation services; and Enterprise IT supplier/vendor relationship management.
