CACI develops, maintains, and enhances the Navy's Readiness-Based Sparing system, saving over $2 billion and reducing processing time by 20 percent.

Logistics Systems Sustainment and Modernization: CACI develops next-generation logistics systems tools to replace aging legacy tools, employing CACI's Agile Solution Factory (ASF) and next-generation ERPs (SAP, Oracle, Infor, Salesforce).

Supply Chain Planning and Optimization: CACI offers real-time, end-to-end control of the supply chain, including the deployment, distribution, and sustainment pipeline. We provide management decision support tools and automatic identification technology for total asset visibility. Our services include forecasting, requirements determination, warehousing and distribution, and readiness-based sparing.

PLM and MRO Solutions: CACI's high-performing supply chain consultants and software engineers possess deep domain and functional knowledge with the innovation and foresight to solve complex problems. As a result, we understand the supply chain processes, which positions us to configure PLM and MRO solutions with underlying process tenets and allows us to excel at systems integration of next-generation tools.

Operational Medicine: CACI provides end-to-end healthcare solutions and services for our nation's military deployed in theaters of operations around the globe. We integrate, test, train, deploy, and sustain electronic medical records and health-related software on deployable military systems to enhance interoperability and deliver continuity of care for U.S. military personnel abroad. CACI provides emergency preparedness, logistics, and medical contingency support to the Department of Defense and rapidly deploys assets in support of wartime efforts, humanitarian relief, and other contingency operations worldwide.
